NEWS RELEASE

May 26, 2010

PLAYING A HUNCH PAYS OFF

A Fort Yates man is $110,000 richer after winning five separate 2by2 jackpots, worth $22,000 each, by choosing five plays with the same numbers for the Monday, May 24 draw.

Leonard Beston remained calm as he described his winning experience and reasoning for choosing five plays for a shot at the jackpot. Leonard picks his numbers based on numbers he feels win most frequently, although he said the overall decision to buy a ticket is guided by a hunch. "You just gotta feel it. You know, you gotta have that hunch that you will win," said Beston. He also mentioned that when he plays, he will frequently purchase five plays for the 2by2 game. "If you match three numbers, instead of winning $100, you win $500."

When Lottery Director Randy Miller handed over the check, Beston commented, "this is the most money I've ever had at one time." He plans to take care of a few bills and purchase a car with his winnings.
